This small two-story log house, uncovered, was recently placed on stone foundations. Logs are preserved and have brick and stone chinking in new cement.

Oblong, there are 4 bays facing south (as the building is set up now) with 1 window east, 1 north, and no openings at the west end, where a large brick fireplace is inside the building line but exposed below the chimney. However a small attic window ^{of 150 sq. ft.} is set parallel to the line of the A-frame eaves in the west end wall. Two doors open to the south. Windows have 6 lights on 6. Floors are random width pine. Trim is absent from door and window frames and from narrow eaves.
